

Aberlour 100 Proof

aberlour_100_pro_4cb9bb2a1ba3e.jpg

Rating: Not Rated Yet

Price

Ask a question about this product

Manufacturer Aberlour Distillery

Description

<http://www.aberlour.com>

Aberlour 100 Proof

Age :

Vol :

Price :

<http://www.thewhiskyexchange.com/P-8358.aspx>

Aberlour 100 Proof

Speyside Single Malt Scotch Whisky

An litre bottle of Aberlour malt whisky, bottled a few years ago at 57.1%.

<http://www.maltmaniacs.org/ADHD/aberlour.html>

Aberlour NAS '100 Proof' (57.1%, OB, code L320077 06? 09:58, bottled +/- 2000?, 100cl)

Nose: Big, sweet and powerful. Woody elements as well. Sherried, woody and some cookies. Strong fruits and molasses. There is complexity, but it's not as apparent as in the 15yo or Antique. You really have to look for it, but when you find it it's a revelation. Peaty (???) after five minutes. With a dash of water more farmy and organic notes emerged, but whiffs of paint thinner as well. Taste: Very drinkable at Cask Strength - at least for the first 5 seconds. Then the big burn starts. Liquorice (root) and wood are the primary impressions. Very sweet with strong fruity notes. Not unlike Spanish sangria. It tastes a little bit like sweet dough after I added some water. Score: 86 points - but note that some breathing will improve the nose considerably!

Reviews

There are yet no reviews for this product.